THE WEEK'S EVENTS

FRIDAY, DEC. 31.

Meeting of the Social Card club; hostess, Mrs. Dan Murphy on North Hayne street.
New Year's eve ball by young Jewish society set at K. of C. hall, 8 p.m.
New Year's fancy dress ball; hostess, Mrs. Douglas at the Navy Yard.

SATURDAY, JAN. 1.

New Year's day.

THE DYING YEAR.

Time is ruthless in its fleeing—A nip of frost—a frozen blight Thus it steals the years away In the passing of a night.

Falling leaves come drifting down—Beaten by the wintry rain—On the page, a fall of tear drops, Wringing from every source of pain.

When a tardy sun belated, Seen thro' atmosphere of haze, Shows the dying year is fated,
By the shortening of the days.

Do we pause to scan the record Written on the folded page Will it bear a close inspection?
Does it prove you fool or sage?

Are the noble deeds and service As a balance to your name?
At the final great accounting Will the reading bring you shame?

Some have bound the page with Mourning
For a head line, stands a tomb And athwart the next year's brightness Falls the shadow of its gloom.

For some it is wreathed with garlands Plucked fresh from love's first bloom And will forever be redolent Of the love-flower's sweet perfume.

To others each passing month Was a paragraph marked with gold, No record there of want or care Written by fingers numb with cold.

So on, with varying fortunes Each one works out his own fate Some in joy and some in sorrow On the page an added date.

Chilly winds thro' dead leaves sighing
Chant a requiem sad and low.
Heart sobers are but breath in passing
Brief as years that come and go.

—Virginia Dare.

An exceedingly artistic and alto-also been present. The congenial gathering numbered thirty of these musically inclined young people, a musical program having been planned for the event, which, however, was omitted on account of the illness of some of the prospective performers.

The house decorations were potted plants, and a progressive word game proved the amusement of the afternoon. In this Miss Louise Williams, of Converse college, who has made the musical record of the year there, received the first prize, which was a handpainted leather copy of pretty New Year souvenirs, and the refreshments, which proved to be an elaborate sweet course, were unusually tempting. On the refreshment committee were Mesdames Wm. Bab-rie, Dan Murphy, Ben Crona and Wm. Walker. The reception committee, composed of Mrs. J. G. Under-was another important corps of workers, the ladies, with Mrs. J. G. bottle of catsup, tied jauntily with a huge red ribbon.

CHILDREN'S PARTY PROVED

DELIGHTFUL EVENT.
The Progress club was the scene of a pretty affair yesterday, given in the form of a children's party, the various decorations used having been suggestive of the holidays and correspondingly pretty. Interesting games, grab bags, dancing, music, etc., had been planned for the pleasure of the little ones, who did full justice to the pleasant events which had been arranged for them. Delicious refreshments were served, a dainty sweet course predominating. A large number were present in order to watch the handsome youngsters in their merry making, the afternoon having been one of pleasure and interest generally.

THE CHRIST CHURCH

XMAS TREE.
The children of Christ church enjoyed a fine Xmas tree yesterday afternoon at the armory hall, when gifts were distributed from the handsome blazing tree, and where fitting exercises took place. Previous to the festivities which occurred at the hall, the little people had met at the church, where carols were sung, and where other fitting religious observances appropriate to the season took place.

CAPTAIN AND MRS. DOUGLAS TO BE HOSTESS TONIGHT AT A FANCY DRESS BALL.
Captain and Mrs. Douglas are to give their long anticipated New Year's ball tonight at the Navy Yard. Various whisperings and hints of the costumes to be worn, which have been accidentally overheard, point to even a more strenuously interesting time than last year, and society is afoot with interest as a result.

Needless to say, the New Year will be "danced in" most fittingly!

MISS MARY KEYSER

ENTERTAINED AT A LUNCHEON.
Miss Mary Keyser entertained at an informal little luncheon yesterday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Keyser, on the bayshore.
Her guests were the members of the young college set who are home for the holidays, for Miss Mary herself is spending a week or two at home from her studies in New York. Christmas colors predominated, the entire affair having been marked with a pretty simplicity, appropriate to the really young college girl.

MISS REINE CAHN ENTERTAINED

AT A Dainty JAPANESE PARTY.
Miss Reine Cahn entertained a number of her friends last evening at her home on North Hill at a lovely Japanese affair, which was novel and extremely clever from many standpoints. Great Jap lanterns artistically arranged, gave the only light, the decorations having been in red and green.

The guests attended in Jap costumes, Miss Celestine Hirschner having won the first prize as the best Jap and the most graceful Jap dancer.
Miss Fannie Waggenheim also received a prize for eating the most rice with chop sticks. The refreshments, which consisted of chop suey, tea and other celestial viands, were served in true Jap style on the floor, being cooked in chafing dishes as the guests looked on from their seats, which were lighted hood pillows. Those present were Miss Sadie Steinhardt of Greenville, Ala., Misses Bertha Lich-ten, Fannie Waggenheim, Pauline Rehfield, Reina Dannhoffer, Leah Cahn and Celestine Hirschner, and Messdames Hubert Moog and Ben. C.
Heinberg.

MRS. S. H. BURGOWNE, FORMERLY

OF THIS CITY, ASSISTS AT CLEVER AFFAIR.
Friends of Mrs. S. A. Burgowne, formerly of this city, but now of Mobile, will be interested in the following from the "Item," which tells of a delightful social affair in which she recently figured quite promi-nently:

"The sweet Christmas blessing which smiled its benediction upon Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Discher fifteen years ago with their union has attended them through all these years of happy married life, and last evening the blessings tripled and multiplied when surrounded by their sweet children, Willie May Discher, Virginia and Eddie Marvin Discher, and loving friends they celebrated their crystal anniversary at a delightful reception at their home from 8 to 11 o'clock.

The home was thronged all evening, as invitations had been extended to two hundred, and everyone was in their merriest mood, filled with the joy of the Yuletide, while the brightness of the home and its happy little circle was most infectious.

The house for this festive occasion was gracefully decorated with bamboo and garlands of white crepe paper, which fell from the chandelier to the four corners of the room.

Mrs. Discher, handsomely gowned in cream silk, with her husband stood in the parlor to receive the guests, and was assisted by Mrs. S. A. Bur-gowne and Mrs. D. E. Jett in extending the welcome.

In the dining room ice cream, cake and punch were served by a bevy of charming girls, Misses Charley Vaughan, Annie Taylor, Eugenia Van Allen, Myrtle Bulwood and Ruby Wil-hanson. The bride's table was most dainty with white table and ribbon combining its purity with the fragrant narcissus. Streamers of white ribbon and tulle fell from chandelier to two corners of the table, while at the oper two were the gold candelabra, with a vase of white narcissus as a centerpiece.

The host's eldest daughter, Willie May Discher, a pretty maiden just in her teens, and her young friend, Odette Burgowne, assisted in seeing to the entertainment of the guests.

Bright music enlivened the hours while the guests viewed the many handsome presents of cut glass and Sovietian glass, which are treasured remembrances from friends in St.
Louis, Little Rock, Ark., and other places, besides their friends at home.

Among the many gifts one of the handsomest is a cut glass water set from the Shriners, which is much appreciated by Mr. and Mrs. Discher, as Mr. Discher is a Shriner.

COLD KILLS THE GERM.
Lieut. Peary Says There Are No Bad Heads in the Arctic Region.

The people who come back from Klondike testify to the fact that no native bad heads are there. The evidence is that the cold climate kills the germs that eat the hair off at the root. Lieut. Peary, who went to the Arctic Regions, gives the same evidence. Newborn's Herpicide has the same effect as the cold climate. It kills the germ that eats the hair off at the roots, and the hair grows again.
Herpicide is the first hair remedy built upon the principle of destroying the germ that eats the hair off. Its pneumonal sale demonstrates the correctness of the scalp germ theory. Sold day, stated that Mr. Smith was a prominent citizen of that town and was held in high esteem generally by all who knew him there and at other been in the act of breaking a mirror back of the counter when Kreuse interfered, striking him on the chin with some object. He was sent to the police station, where the wound was given treatment.
